Capricious leopard will roam no more.

Three-Day Fling Too Much, Leopard Dies In Prison Pit

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 1—(AP)—Oklahoma City's meandering leopard died yesterday after a three-day fling at freedom.

The crafty creature escaped from his prison pit at the Lincoln Park Zoo Saturday. His leap from the 18-foot deep pit, as a group of children looked on, set off a wave of excitement which had a nation grasping for news on the hunt which followed for the jungle-killer.

The 175-pound cat, fresh from

India's jungles, came sneaking home after midnight yesterday like a runaway boy—hungry.

It was apparently hunger which indirectly took the life of the leopard after 61 hours of carousing through northeastern Oklahoma county's brushland and gulches.

Two solid helpings of horse-meat—the usual diet—placed strategically on a fence surrounding the pit came as a tempting lure to the crafty creature.

He gobbled greedily, slipped back into the nearby pit. He was discovered by three zoo attendants in a groggy condition. The prize morsels of meat were loaded with a strong drug—chloral hydrate—enough to keep the beast in a semi-sleepy condition throughout the day.

Fifteen hours later at 5:45 p. m. the leopard was found stretched lifeless in his cage even though a stimulant to overcome the drug's reaction had been administered periodically by Veterinarian W. O. Bowerman.

Zoo Director Julian Frazier said the animal seemed to be on the road to recovery early in the afternoon only to suffer a sudden relapse.

"I don't really know what caused his death," Frazier said after talking to Dr. Bowerman. "The veterinarian had examined him and said he was 'doing fine.' An autopsy will be performed today.

Even though his escape spread terror around the adjacent countryside the leopard's passing saddened zoo officials and thousands of volunteer hunters who were "out to kill."

"He's a fine animal and we hate to lose him," Frazier remarked, lifting the animal's head hoping for a spark of life. It will not be an inglorious death for the stately prowler of the jungle.

The body will be mounted and placed somewhere in Oklahoma City as a remembrance of "the leopard which escaped from the Lincoln Park Zoo."

Templeton Concert Thrills Listeners

Alex Templeton, the famed blind pianist, proved himself pianist-extraordinary as well as a master showman when he gave a recital to 850 people who jammed the High School auditorium Tuesday evening.

The concert was one of the current winter series sponsored by the Northern Columbiana County Community Concert Association.

The first two-thirds of the program stressed Bach, Beethoven and other masters of composition, while the last third, a delight to the audience, was strictly a la Templeton.

After playing his compositions of "Relaxation," "Bach Goes to Town" and "Dvorak Has a Sense of Humor-esque," he asked for five notes of the scale. E flat, C sharp, A, B flat and G were called out by the audience and Templeton first improvised on those five notes and then on the same notes used individual themes styled to Beethoven, Rachmaninoff, Victor Herbert and Gershwin.

Before concluding with numerous encores, he interwove four tunes into one.

Fire Damages Apple Storage Barn Here

Matthews Building On E. Third Guttered; Cause Undetermined

Gaining terrific headway before the fire department could arrive, a fire completely gutted the storage barn owned by L. J. Matthews at the rear of his home at 1134 E. Third st. Tuesday evening.

Only the four walls of the two-story frame structure remain standing. The fire burned out the inside of the building and the roof dropped in during the height of the blaze.

Firemen fought the fire from 7:03 p. m., when the alarm was turned in until 2:50 p. m. today. A second alarm was given at 7:18 p. m. and another truck was sent to the scene. All available firemen in the department were called out. The department returned at 7:28 a. m. today to further wet down the building.

Fire Chief Vincent Malloy said the fire had gained plenty of headway before the alarm was given. Neighbors, who said they had smelled smoke for "a long time," called Matthews, who summoned the department.

The firemen poured water on the structure, using five lines, but a strong breeze fanned the fire until flames leaped high over the barn. The breeze also blew some of the water away, Malloy said.

Lost in the fire was all of Matthews' orchard equipment. The barn is usually used to store apples, but there were none in it last night, the owner revealed.

Last to store fruit there was Burt Cobourn. Matthews was unable to give the value of the barn, but said that it is partly insured.

Neither Malloy nor Matthews could determine the cause of the fire.

Attlee Keeps 3 Top Aides

Lower Echelons Altered For Strength

LONDON, March 1—(AP)—Prime Minister Attlee has reshuffled his Labor cabinet along stronger political lines to meet the threatened Conservative challenge in Parliament, which opens today.

Attlee, whose Labor party majority in the 625-member House of Commons was cut to a scanty seven in last week's elections, kept his three top cabinet aides: Deputy Prime Minister Herbert Morrison, Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Stafford Cripps.

He made some 15 changes, chiefly in the lower brackets, in a move obviously aimed at strengthening the party for new elections which most observers feel will be called within a few months at most.

Today's opening session of Parliament will be devoted chiefly to electing a speaker of the Commons. Following tradition, Col. Douglas Clifton Brown, a Conservative, probably will be re-elected.

The Labor party's first test of strength with Winston Churchill's Conservatives will come after King George VI outlines government policies in a speech from the throne next Monday.

To meet the Conservative challenge, Attlee increased his cabinet from 17 to 18 members—elevating several Laborites expected to swing considerable weight in any new election campaign.

The new cabinet post went to Hugh Dalton as minister of town and country planning, which was raised to fifth in order of importance.

Defense Begins Mercy Case

Doctor Claims Patient Died Before Injections

MANCHESTER, N. H., March 1—(AP)—The defense today read into the records a statement by a fellow physician that Mrs. Abbie Borroto was dead before Dr. Hermann N. Sander ever reached her bedside.

The statement reportedly was made by Dr. Albert Snay, who examined the cancer-ridden woman the morning of Dec. 4 a few minutes before Dr. Sander is alleged to have injected air into her veins.

Sander is on trial on a charge of first degree murder.

Dr. Snay was quoted as saying he "carefully examined Mrs. Borroto, found no pulse, no reflex of the eyeball, no heart sound through a stethoscope and therefore:

"I concluded then that she was dead."

"The patient appeared to be gone," read Dr. Snay's statement. "Dr. Sander walked in, and I said something to the effect there is nothing to be done."

Dr. Snay's statement said that he himself then continued to the main office of the Hillsboro County Hospital where Mrs. Borroto died.

"I made no report on the case because I knew it was Dr. Sander's and he would make the necessary report," the statement said.

Dr. Snay's statement further related that he later met Dr. Sander on the hospital steps and Sander said:

"She was dead."

"From her appearance," Snay's

March Expected To Be Subnormal

Last Month's Rainfall Offsets Lack In 1949

After a slow start, winter is finally gaining some headway and the month of March appears to be coming in like the traditional lion, according to L. H. Copeland, district U. S. weather observer.

March is expected to have two or three weeks of below-normal temperature, thus averaging up the warm winter months, recently experienced.

The outstanding feature of February, and January as well, was the large amount of precipitation noted. Total rainfall of the two months totalled 11.50 inches, far over the average of 5.05.

So great was the rain that eastern Ohio's underground water table is at its highest level in many months. The abnormal rainfall made up for the year-long semi-drought in 1949. The new year is now 6.45 inches ahead in precipitation.

The average temperature in February was 29.3 degrees, over the 58-year average of 26.9, Copeland said. Last year, February average 32.6 and the all-time high for the month was 35.8 in 1934.

The mercury hit its peak on Feb. 14, with a 53 degree reading. The low was 5 degrees on the 20th. There were no sub-zero readings.

Snowfall was light last month—only 2.5 inches. Back in 1910 there was 19.7 inches of snow in the month. Normal is 7 inches.

There were only three clear days in February, 15 were cloudy, 10 partly cloudy, and sunshine was only 25 per cent.

Cold weather in the last week of the month helped bring the temperature nearer normal than was expected.

Copeland said the month was a feed and fuel saver. Wheat fields look good, but most fields were too wet most of the month for tractor hauling.

Five Area Men Enlist In Service Last Month

Five area men were enlisted in the Army and Air Force during February, according to Sgt. A. E. Hatfield, recruiting officer at the Salem station in the post-office.

Corporal Jack Hernstrom of R. D. 1, Salem re-enlisted and was assigned to an airborne unit. Pfc. Robert Morton of Garfield re-enlisted and has been assigned to Fort Mead, Md. Pfc. Thomas Cook of the Metzger Hotel has re-enlisted in the Air Force.

Army recruits are Cecil W. Starlin of R. D. 3, Lisbon, and Everett Carl of Lisbon.

Government Ends Its Case Against UMW

Contempt Trial Due To Close Today; 1946 Letter Is Admitted

WASHINGTON, March 1—(AP)—The government today completed its case in the contempt-of-court trial of John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers.

The UMW moved for a dismissal of all the contempt charges brought because the coal miners have flouted a Feb. 11 court order that they return to work.

Judge Richmond B. Keach denied the motion and told UMW attorneys to go ahead with their defense.

Welly K. Hopkins, the miners' chief counsel, contended the government testimony was insufficient to prove the charges of contempt. He said it did not show any actual participation by the union in the continued strike. Hopkins has repeatedly argued since the trial began that the miners have quit work by individual decisions and that the union is in no way responsible for the work stoppage.

Keach said only: "I'll deny your motion."

Before the court session, Hopkins had told reporters he would not need much time—less than a full day—to present the defense.

Keach is hearing the case without a jury.

Just before resting its case, the government got into evidence a letter that Lewis sent to the miners to end a 1946 strike. It was attempting to show that the union leader has not used the same pressure, in the current strike, to get the men back to work that he used in 1946.

In the 1946 letter Lewis said: "Let there be no hesitation upon the part of any individual member with respect to the effectuation of the policy herein defined." That was a policy to end their strike.

Hopkins strenuously objected to admitting the letter, but Keach held it was admissible "as possibly indicative of what must be done to get the men back."

As the first defense witness, Hopkins called John Owens, secretary-treasurer of the UMW. Owens began the story of his life as a miner—that he went to work in the mines when 10 years old.

Judge Keach broke in: "Frankly, what transpired when Mr. Owens was ten years of age can have little effect on the issue here."

Hopkins said he was trying to establish that Owens is an expert on how the miners have felt.

New Caretaker Named For Scout Reservation

Walter M. Peters of 713 N. Lincoln ave. has resigned his position as operator of the Watterson Service station, W. State st., to become the new caretaker of Camp McKinley, Columbiana county Boy Scout reservation at Lisbon, and will move to the camp Saturday, it was announced today by A. V. Smith, camp committee chairman.

Peters succeeds David J. Stockman, caretaker for the past four years, who is retiring.

Columbiana County Scout Executive John Hartwell said the camp committee experienced difficulty in choosing from among 31 applicants for the job. He expressed appreciation for the interest shown.

75 Million May Go To Bao Dai

Mission To Saigon To Study Indo-China Aid

WASHINGTON, March 1—(INS)—The Chinese Nationalist government may never see any of the 75 million dollars given President Truman by Congress to stop communism in Asia.

Instead, top priority is reported today to be given to Indo-China and Indonesia, where communism threatens but is not in power.

State department experts indicate that they may be governed in recommendations to the President by findings of a 10-man U. S. technical mission now enroute to Saigon, capital of the new Vietnam republic.

Saigon is the chief military objective of Ho Chi-Ming. Moscow recognized as head of the State of Vietnam.

France, former overlord of Indo-China, the United States and most Western powers, as well as the neighboring nation of Thailand (Siam) have recognized Bao Dai, one-time French-approved emperor of the area, as legal head of the Saigon government.

Studies will also be made of problems confronting the two new adjoining states of Laos and Cambodia.

Indo-China is considered focal since she adjoins Communist China and has Red troops stationed on her boundaries. There is some belief that the Chinese Communists are lending a hand to Ho Chi-Ming. If Indo-China falls, it is felt certain that Thailand will follow, threatening the Malay states and Burma.

The United States, aside from political assistance, is planning to extend military and economic assistance to the country.

Thailand also has made an application for military assistance to the U. S., which is under consideration.

The 75-million-dollar fund was set aside by Congress for President Truman to use at his discretion "in the general area" of China. There are no plans to give any of it to the Chinese Nationalists.

Judge Flays Scientist As Ingrate Refugee

Says 'Irreparable Harm' Done Britain, U. S.; Trial Brief

LONDON, March 1—(AP)—Dr. Klaus Fuchs, the Jekell-Hyde mastermind of British atomic research, was sentenced to 14 years in prison today on his plea of guilty to betraying the topmost atom bomb secrets to Communist Russia.

At the close of a swift trial in historic Old Bailey court, the Lord Chief Justice, Baron Goddard, flayed the 38-year-old German-born scientist as an ingrate refugee who had bitten the hand that fed him and had done "irreparable harm both to this land and the United States of America."

The trial lasted only an hour and a half and only one witness was called—British Security Officer William J. Skardon, who told the court how Fuchs confessed to giving top atomic secrets to Russian agents over a period of seven years.

The witness was called by the defense. He said Fuchs had cooperated fully with authorities and that without the confession, could not have been charged.

The owlish, bespectacled genius was given the maximum sentence for violation of Britain's official Secrets Act. At no time were any details of the secrets he betrayed disclosed publicly. He was charged on four counts.

Despite Fuchs' apparent attitude of contrition, his lawyer, Derek Curtis-Bennett, told reporters "an appeal is being considered."

"You have imperilled the right of asylum which this country has hitherto extended to political refugees," Lord Goddard told the 38-year-old Jekell-Hyde scientist. Fuchs arrived in Britain in 1933, a refugee from Nazi persecution.

Fuchs was charged with betraying secrets to Russian agents while in Birmingham, England, in 1943; in New York in 1944; in Boston in February, 1945, and in England again in 1947.

Sir Hartley Shawcross, the prosecutor, pictured Fuchs as "disillusioned and ashamed" for having placed himself and his

Liberal Republicans Devise Own Platform

WASHINGTON, March 1—(AP)—Headed by Senator Ives (R) of New York, Republicans who like to be classed as liberals began trying today to put together their own platform for this year's congressional race.

Ives told a reporter he had circulated the suggested draft of a platform to several GOP colleagues.

Ives didn't name them, but those who received copies evidently included Senators Lodge of Massachusetts, Aiken of Vermont, Hendrickson of New Jersey, Smith of Maine and Tobey of New Hampshire.

The group may meet next week to see if they can agree on a statement rivaling that issued recently by the Republican national committee and a majority of Senate and House Republicans.

Ives and others called the party declaration weak-kneed on such issues as civil rights. The New York Senator criticized its labor stand and said he doesn't agree with its social program.

Democrats meanwhile scheduled a new harmony move at a party rally in Chicago, probably in the third week of May.

President Truman and Vice President Barkley will be the stars of a meeting to which all Democratic members of Congress and the members of the party's national committee will be invited.

It will be a new opportunity for the President to discuss what he calls his "Fair Deal" program from a mid-west platform.

Lincoln Wants Prices Studied

Farmer-Consumer Difference Great

COLUMBUS, Mar. 1—(AP)—Some 3,300,000 farm families in America have an income of less than $1,000 a year, Murray D. Lincoln, Farm Cooperative leader, declared last night.

He talked before the Farm Bureau Cooperative Association's 16th annual meeting.

Some 10,000,000 American families have incomes of less than $2,000 yearly, he added. These groups, he said, make up "a great undeveloped economic frontier."

"Figures show that people averaging less than $1,000 a year spend only $6 a week for food, while those in higher income brackets above $5,000 average $17 a week," he said. "City income has a direct effect upon farm living standards."

Lincoln suggested that the federal Trade Commission study differences between prices farmers get for their products and those consumers pay.

He continued: "We all know that generally when the price is lowered, the city purchaser increases his consumption to the point where it will be even more profitable for the farmer to stay in business. When the price paid to farmers goes down and the price to consumers goes up, then someone is being taken advantage of."

He suggested that cooperatives buy food processors' establishments so farmers would receive more money for their products and so consumers would get food at a "fair price."

"If we can just set up some pilot plants to do this job," he said, "we can really find out what food should cost."

Chester Airman Dies In Crash Over Japan

TOKYO, Mar. 1—(INS)—A U. S. Air Force ground party struggled up 4,000-foot-high Mount Onji on the Japanese island of Shikoku today to reach the wreckage of a B-26 medium bomber which crashed on the mountain Feb. 14 with the loss of three lives.

Japanese climbers found the wreckage strewn over three slopes of the mountain, ending a two-week search for the missing plane. The Japanese removed the bodies of the three crewmen and placed them in a nearby shrine.

Killed in the Valentine's Day crash were Capt. Richard Price of Morrow, O.; S/Sgt. James S. Cacic of Haddon Heights, N. J.; and Sgt. Royal Newman of Chester, W. Va.

Combine Canned Corn, Oysters

A CAN of corn, especially when it's on the plentiful list, is a good budget buy. But combine it with oysters and mushrooms and you've got a handsome main meatless dish to serve.

Casserole of Corn and Oysters (4 servings)

One No. 2 can cream style corn, 1 1/4 cups fine cracker crumbs, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 pint small oysters, 3-ounce can chopped broiled mushrooms, 1/4 cup finely diced green pepper, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, paprika.

Place half of corn in bottom of greased 1 1/2-quart casserole. Crush enough soda crackers with rolling pin to make 1 1/4 cups crumbs; it will take about 28. Sprinkle corn with 1 cup crumbs and dot with 1 tablespoon butter. Add oysters in a layer, including oyster liquor.

Then add contents of can of mushrooms in a layer. Sprinkle with green pepper, salt and pepper. Add remaining corn and top with remaining crumbs. Dot with 1 tablespoon butter and sprinkle with paprika. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) until thoroughly hot and lightly browned, about 30 to 40 minutes. Serve immediately.

Here's another meatless dish with unusual and winning flavor. It uses some of those plentiful eggs, too.

Finnan Haddie Mushroom Loaf (Using Eggs) (4 to 6 servings) crumbs, 3-ounce can, chopped broiled mushrooms, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon grated onion, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons fat, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire.

Remove skin and bones from fish and flake fish with fork. Slightly beat the eggs and stir in the milk. Add the crumbs, contents of can of mushrooms, mustard, onion, salt and pepper. Mix together thoroughly.

Combine with flaked fish and shape into a loaf on a shallow greased heatproof platter. Or drop into the 6 greased cups of a 3-inch muffin pan. Blend together the fat and Worcestershire.

Lightly brush this mixture over the fish loaf, or the individual loaves. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) until firm and lightly browned, about 25 to 35 minutes. Serve with creamed potatoes and green beans.

Big 'Mo's' Captain Claims Responsibility

NORFOLK, Va., Mar. 1—(AP)—Capt. William D. Brown, commanding officer of the battleship Missouri, said today "I and I alone bear the sole responsibility" for her grounding last month.

"As captain of the ship, it was my duty to keep her safe and secure. I didn't do it," the 47-year-old officer told a Naval court of inquiry.

This dramatic reversal of Brown's previous defense tactics came as the court opened its 18th day of sessions designed to fix responsibility for the grounding which occurred in Chesapeake Bay, January 17.

When Brown took the stand in his own defense February 18 and February 20 he testified his "team of officers" fell down when he "needed it most" January 17, and he felt "utterly alone as far as assistance from my team of officers was concerned."

Today, he stood tall and straight before the court and reading from a prepared statement, said:

"I feel, and I feel it strongly, that despite all of the numerous shortcomings of others which have been revealed in this courtroom, I could have, and should have, kept the ship in deep water."

Aids Veterans On Employment Rights

St. Patrick's Day Program Planned By Leetonia School

LEETONIA, March 1—The annual St. Patrick's Day program will be presented by pupils of St. Patrick's School March 17 at Leetonia High School.

The performance has been divided into seven parts, with almost all children in the school taking part in the event, which is held yearly in recognition of St. Patrick, patron of St. Patrick Church and school.

The St. Patrick Church choir girls will sing the opening number. This will be followed by a playlet, "What's in the Basket?" by grades one and two.

Taking part are: Gayle Billet, Jean Feyock, Carol Finch, Mary Huffnagle, Mary Ann McCabe, Roberta McCoy, Donna Oliver, Susan Less, Elaine Altomare, Frances Doll, Patricia Huffnagle, Mary F. Less, Ann Nicolette, Esther Rose Sposetta, Mary Agnes Woods, Donald Baughman, Lynn Eskay, James Leeson, Joseph Murphy, David Pirigyi, John Prior and Francis Simonds.

Third and fourth grade children will present "Our Little Helpers." In this playlet the helpers tell in song and verse how they help little children, as well as grown-ups, of the community.

Helpers are: Firemen, Lawrence Stokes and Joseph Less; policemen, James Prior, Gerald Haney, John Finch and Lynn Keagy; shoemakers, Joseph Mango, John Sevenich and John Ferry; doctor, Joseph Leeson; nurse, Balbina Ziegler; milkman, Gerald Gabriel; grocer, Robert Clunen; postman, Richard Prior; teacher, Virginia Mancuso; pastor, Gerald Stumpo; mayor, William Gwne; secretary, Anita Szkola, and announcer, John Kalafus.

School children in this part of the program are: Charles Gier, Mary C. Norris, Nancy Altomare, John Fast, Carol Baulo, Theresa Sevenich, Barbara Sevenich, Carol Falzetta, Antoinette Girard, Barbara Kalafus, Louise Keliany, Marlene Miller, Jeanette Oliver and Joyce Stokes. For the program grades five and six are preparing a shillelagh and Irish flag drill and some humorous Irish songs. Those taking part are:

Rosalia Altomare, Mary Catherine Duko, Eileen Kalafus, Margaret Kennedy, Clorinda Mancuso, Naomi Norris, Carol Eskay, Helen Eskay, Rosemary Gier, Rosalie Kalafus, Patricia Less, Eileen Murphy, Cora Townsend.

Joseph Bell, Peter Calabrese, Donald Gabriel, Fred Less, Louis Altomare, Thomas Bell, Rocco Gallo, Vincent Lavelle, Charles Nicolette and Robert Peet.

Girls of grades seven and eight will present a mystery play, "The Ghost of Deepdene." Cast in the play are:

Dianne Peet, a scheming spinster; Anita Gallo, head mistress of the school; Patricia Butch, maid at the school; girls attending the school, Grace Smith, Mary Geyock, Anita Billett, Josephine Holisky, Dolores Skinner, Frances Ziegler, Audrene Mercure, Joan Holisky, Agnes Oliver and Joanne Stumpo.

Boys of the seventh and eighth grades have been rehearsing "Mickey Does His Homework." In this skit Mickey is trying to study his spelling under very trying circumstances with many temptations.

Anthony Less portrays Mickey. His playmates are Donald Girard, John Simonds, Robert Cross, Vincent Sevenich, Richard Helman and Joseph Holisky.

The program will be concluded with a hymn to St. Patrick. Accompanists are Knute Guerrier of the eighth grade and Jacqueline Beltempo of the sixth grade. Tickets for the St. Patrick's Day program are available at the school or from any of the pupils.

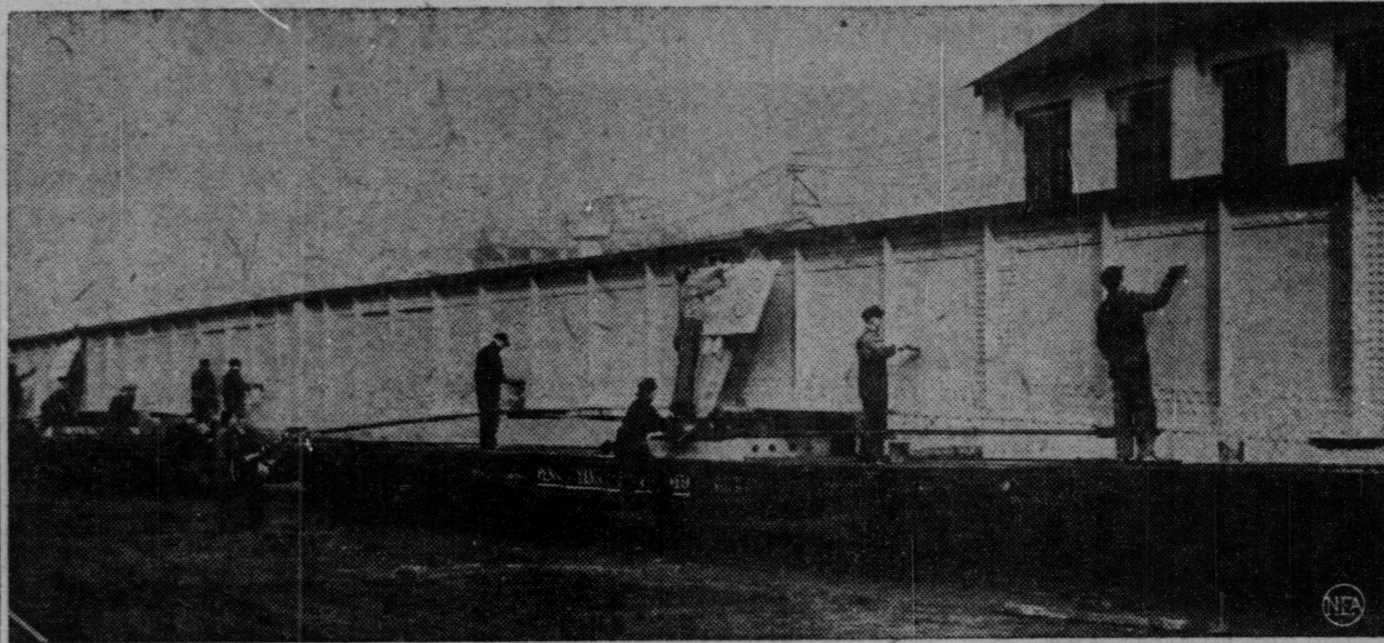

WILL PICK AGENT

WARREN, March 1—(AP)—About 3,000 production employees at the Packard Electric Division of General Motors Corp. vote Friday to elect a collective bargaining agent. Workers will have a choice among the United Electrical Workers, the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers, and no union.

The Gilbert and Ellice islands are the only territory in the world to straddle both the equator and the international date line, according to the National Geographic Society.

New Hearing Device Has No Receiver Button In Ear

Deafened people are hailing a new device that gives them clear hearing without making them wear a receiver button in the ear. They now enjoy songs, sermons, friendly companionship and business success with no self-conscious feeling that people are looking at any button hanging on their ear. With the new invisible Phantomold you may free yourself not only from deafness, but from even the appearance of deafness. The Beltone Company of Youngstown, Dept. 4, at 12 W. LaCade Ave., Youngstown, Ohio, are so proud of their achievement they will gladly send you their free brochure (in plain wrapper) and explain how you can test this amazing invisible device in the privacy of your own home without risking a penny. Write Beltone today, attention of Daniel L. Diedrich, Manager. You may purchase a fine, one-piece, hearing aid for so little as $57 fully guaranteed.

ONE PIECE OF STEEL MAKES FOUR CARLOADS—Workmen at the American Bridge Company, Ambridge, Pa., put a protective coat on the longest steel girder ever shipped in one piece from the plant. Four railroad flatcars were required to haul the 165-foot, 75-ton girder to Philadelphia for use on a railroad bridge. Ten other spans identical to it are being made for the job.

Dealers Take Fight To Senate

Lustron Salesmen Sure Firm Can Profit

WASHINGTON, March 1—(AP)—Lustron prefabricated home dealers have carried their fight to prevent government foreclosure on the housing venture to a Senate banking subcommittee.

The subcommittee will hear a group of dealers at 2:30 p. m. today. W. W. Lobbell of Rockford, Ill., is spokesman for the dealers.

The meeting was arranged as lawyers for Lustron and the Reconstruction Finance Corp. appeared in U. S. district court in Columbus. The RFC has asked a judgment for $36,400,000 against Lustron on grounds Lustron has defaulted in payments on loans totaling $37,500,000. The RFC also asks a receiver be appointed for Lustron.

The subcommittee will be told that Lustron "if permitted to continue, can earn a profit," Lobbell said. Ten of Lustron's 231 dealers say they can sell 2,800 Lustron homes this year, Lobbell continued.

"If about five per cent of the dealers can sell 2,800 homes, we are confident that a survey of all dealers now being made will show we can handle more than 8,000 Lustron homes a year, which is enough for the factory to make a profit," he added.

Senator Maybank heads the subcommittee.

Lobbell yesterday put in a hurry-up call for Richard Krabach of Lima, O., a dealer and an attorney, to act as co-chairman of the group which will talk to the subcommittee.

The dealers asserted that "we suspect there is a plot inside the government to wreck Lustron which might merit an investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation."

However, Senator Flanders (R-Vt), member of the banking committee, told a newsman "I feel quite sure there is nothing to" any suggestion of a plot to destroy Lustron.

He added that Lustron's value "is far greater as a going concern than it can possibly be as a business in bankruptcy."

Junior High 8C Class Presenting Playlet

The 8C class under the supervision of Miss Effie Cameron and Miss Elizabeth Ward are presenting a playlet, "Thanks to George Washington," this week to Junior High School audiences.

It is humorous play with situations to harass a young high school couple in their love affair. A double cast is used with Dolly Capel and Beverly Presco playing Mary Rogers, the high school girl, and Charles Nicholson and Bob Lutsch as Gerald Williams, the male lead.

Bob Talbot is a convincing John Rogers while Nancy Zeck and Dorothy Vogelhuber portray Ethel Rogers, his wife. Bob Stauffer and Gary Moffett share honors as Charlie Williams, the other father, while Shirley Grubbigel and Sandra King play Dora Williams, his wife. Delivery men are Charles Kelly and Don Beagle.

Barbara Patterson is the announcer who introduces the characters and Margaret Howe is bookholder and assistant director. She is assisted by Juliana Usterstaedt. Property arrangements are under the supervision of Mary Unger and Nadine Patterson.

MERGER HEARING SET
WASHINGTON, Mch. 1—(AP)—A hearing on the proposed merger of the Ohio Public Service Co. of Cleveland and the Ohio Edison Co. of Akron will be held March 10 before the securities and exchange commission.

The Next Coal 'Boom'

EVENTUALLY, members of United Mine Workers will go back to earning a living for themselves and their families by producing coal. In order to fill up the dumps, yards and bins drained by their long slowdown and the strike which brought the slowdown to a climax, they will have to work full time. Coal-mining will get the benefit of an unnatural boom in consumer demand. There will be a market for all the coal that can be mined.

But this also will have the disadvantages of a boom. There is no such thing in the industry any more as a state of balance. When miners are working, consumers and suppliers are trying to stock up as rapidly as possible, because they must protect themselves against the next slowdown or stoppage. This is one of the accomplishments of the industrial strategy developed by John L. Lewis in the coal industry.

Whether a consumer of coal needs 10 tons for the next winter or half a million tons to keep a plant in operations, it no longer is practicable to rely on an assured supply. Coal either must be stockpiled, or if it can't be stockpiled it must be regarded as an undependable fuel. Wherever possible, gas or oil must be used for the sake of dependability. Coal suppliers, the sales force of the coal industry, are supposed to keep smiling in the face of circumstances which keep them on the defensive with their customers.

When the history of John L. Lewis and his times finally is written in full, it will have more to say about what he did to the coal industry than about what he claimed he did for coal miners.

More Brains Wanted

SUMNER T. PIKE, acting chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, is more concerned about the shortage of trained minds in the United States than he is about H-bombs. Like his predecessor David E. Lilienthal and like every person who has worked close to AEC, Mr. Pike is wondering where the brain power will come from to clinch America's leadership in nuclear fission.

In a speech last week at the University of Wisconsin, he said AEC is encouraging young men to take up atomic research. The purpose is not, as might be supposed, to aid in making bigger and better bombs. It is to give the United States the benefit of the greatest source of power ever mastered by men, though mastered only imperfectly so far.

It has been pointed out often by those who know what nuclear research involves that no one who hasn't grown up in the atmosphere of that complex field can be much good at it. It is as much more difficult than anything hitherto studied as electricity is compared to a team of horses, in terms of power. There isn't much demand in the United States any more for young men who know how to drive horses. But there are infinite opportunities for young men with the training that makes it possible for them to know what Albert Einstein is talking about—or even to know what the Atomic Energy Commission is talking about when it hints that the future of the United States depends on the quality and quantity of its brainpower.

Fill The Grand Canyon!

THE MORE you think about it, the more logical it seems—that along with the potatoes grown to be destroyed and eggs laid for no earthly use there should be a federal policy of doing something about some of the other surpluses.

The surplus automobiles which will begin to be a problem before long could be filled with surplus potatoes, eggs and assorted gimcracks and driven over the edge of the Grand Canyon. Perhaps on the kamikaze principle used by the Japanese in the late war their drivers could be surplus people so their heirs could collect their insurance.

If the cars were filled with gas and oil just before the plunge, that would help the petroleum industry. Each new car could be given a complete overhaul just before the plunge, along with a grease job and a rubdown—and that would make work for the mechanics, grease monkeys, also get rid of surplus wax. It might be arranged to get rid of surplus clothes hangers that pile up in hall closets. Even the prefabricated houses that can't get cheaper because of a lack of demand could be dumped in the canyon, then they'd get cheaper—if you forget the cost of dumping them, along with all the other stuff. And when the canyon started to get full, a couple of surplus H-bombs could be dropped on the whole mess. If the scientists know what they're talking about, overproduction then would cease to be a problem.

Revision Overdue

DR. ROBERT A. MILLIKAN stuck a pin into the gaseous hoax of after-dinner speaking the other night when he refused to perform after waiting three hours for his turn. But he failed to point out what is obviously true about this ordeal of oratory, which is the fact that it must go on.

It must go on because Americans firmly believe in it. Nothing can deter them from a life-long pursuit of self-improvement by mingling with other people who attend banquets in pursuit of the same thing. The trouble is they pursue it in a clumsy fashion.

They dull their minds with food, drink, tobacco and inactivity, then try to listen to speeches, some of which are pretty good. What they should do is meet three hours after time to eat, listen to the speeches on an empty stomach, then eat all they can hold and grope their way home to a good night's sleep. There would be fewer banquets and fewer speeches, but the ones that survived would be humdingers.

There Are Times When We Think Uncle Is a Little Nuts

Republicans Not Grasping Political Issues

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON
EITHER the Republican high command is losing its political perspicacity and doesn't know a good political issue when it sees one—as, for example, the coal crisis—or else it is sorely strained for political ammunition in allowing reports to be broadcast that the Republican party is planning to use the Communist issue for an attack on the Democratic candidate for the coming congressional campaign.

In the first place, in order for Lawrence for it to be effective, not only must the President's complicity with Communistic infiltration be proved but the responsibility of each Democratic candidate for the laxity must be established. Nor is it logical to assume that many votes will be made for the Republicans by citing Secretary Acheson's statement of his friendship for Alger Hiss. For this tends to undermine the prestige of the secretary of state at a time when he should be moving in the direction of a betterment of Russian-American relations.

Yet some moves of this kind ought to be made now to allay the fears of war that are sweeping the nation. The Republican party surely isn't going to line up on the side of inevitable war with Russia and increase the people's jitters on atomic-bomb developments.

THE DEMOCRATS are weak in their rejoinders on the Communist issue. Senator Scott Lucas of Illinois, Democratic majority leader, for instance, indicated recently that he wasn't going to defend Acheson against attacks. This isn't a sign of team play among the Democrats.

But if the Democrats are floundering on the defense, the Republicans are even weaker on the offense. As an opposition party, they seem to have concentrated on issues that are abstract and they have muffed the ball on the biggest issues of the hour. Thus, with the nation suffering from strikes and work stoppages, with schools closing and public utilities lacking coal, and with cities proclaiming "brownouts" there hasn't been a single major speech made by any Republican leader in either house laying the responsibility upon the Democratic leadership in a Congress which refuses to permit proposed changes in the labor-management laws even to come to a vote.

One would think that industry-wide bargaining, which involves monopolistic power by economic groups, would come in for sustained Republican attacks in these critical days of coal shortage. But it happens to be a Democrat—Senator Willis A. Robertson, the able senator from Virginia—who is leading the fight for anti-monopolistic legislation covering national unions.

AS FOR the peace issue, Winston Churchill in the recent British campaign sensed the powerful national sentiment favoring further efforts to adjust relations with Russia. The Republicans have been missing a similar chance in this country and, again, whatever leadership there has been on that issue has come from Senators McMahon of Connecticut and Tydings of Maryland—both Democrats.

The federal deficit is a dangerous sword that hangs over the national economy. There can be no economic stability or sound currency without a pruning of federal expenses, and yet the Republicans are asleep at the switch on this issue, too. Maybe they think the charges and innuendoes about Communism are more spectacular for the headlines. But if they'll go back to the newspaper files of the Dulles-Lehman senatorial campaign of 1949 and the Dewey speeches of 1948, they will find that the counter-attack on the "red herding" stuff didn't get very far.

It is difficult to prove that Democratic candidates for office are not as good Americans and as loyal as Republicans. There is far more to the cry of socialism in the Democratic party's program and behavior as the logical forerunner of a Communistic state, but the Republicans haven't sensed that correlation of issues either.

No Caves, Thanks

By TRUMAN TWILL

IF THE PEOPLE who think the way to handle the H-bomb situation is to dig caves to live in are smart, they'll waste no time on this customer. We do not intend to live in a cave if it can be helped—and we think it can be.

Not that we've had a wealth of experience with caves, other than that gained by brief visits to a few of them. And not that we have anything against people who prefer to live in caves. They were and are undoubtedly fine types. Our great-great-great-great-great-grandfathers on both sides of the family thought caves were the nuts, add a few generations for safety.

It's only that the proposition of going underground to get away from the dogs of war doesn't add up to any sense. Because if the time comes that the dogs run loose again, here's one potential victim who doesn't propose to duck into a hole in the ground and hope for the best. The best couldn't be very good. Because the prime characteristic of caves is that sooner or later you have to come out of them.

And when that happens the dogs wouldn't be far away. They would pick up the scent—and there you'd be, back in the cave. All they'd have to do in that event is scratch enough dirt into the opening to seal it up and you'd be entombed like those hapless Japs on Okinawa and other war stations in the Pacific. Or perhaps you'd be in the same fix as those Frenchmen who went underground in that complex system of caves known as the Maginot Line. The dogs of war coursed madly back and forth—and there were the Frenchmen, in their caves. They might as well have holed up in their castles and done the job right in the first place.

We do not want to be gloomy about this, but we do intend to be firm about it. There isn't the slightest doubt that as H-bomb hysteria spreads there will be increasing agitation for caves. The same thing that happened in the last war will be intensified. Humanity will be urged to climb into a hole in the ground and pull in the hole after it. And many will do exactly that.

But not all of us. Not this customer. We have picked out the place where we want to deal with H-bombs, if that's the way it's going to be. It's equipped with all the comforts of home. There are windows on all four sides and just an ordinary roof overhead. It has central heating, enough reading matter to keep time from dragging and congenial company. One baazoommm of an H-bomb and it would be a pile of splinters—nothing left of it or its occupants.

It would be the perfect place to deal with the H-bomb situation. No caves, thanks. Caves are for those who never got out of them, or have no better sense than to go back to them. There's no place like home, even for dealing with H-bombs.

So They Say

The solution to the farmers' problem lies in some kind of a farm program. From statements that have been made by both parties it is evident they recognize that we must have some kind of a program.

Government Wants To Get Out of Egg Business

WASHINGTON
THE SUBJECT for today will be eggs, too many of, and how would you like them—frozen or dried?

The government has about 73,000,000 pounds of same stored in dozen states in the Midwest. That's the equivalent of 219,000,000 dozen eggs in the shell.

Only about a tenth of them are in the famous cave near Atchison, Kan., which has received so much publicity. But wherever they are, the government would like to get rid of them.

To this end the government recently offered surplus dried and frozen eggs for sale for export at 40 cents a pound, at some 75 storage points. There are few takers. The dried eggs cost the government from $1.00 to $1.20 a pound. But since one pound of dried eggs is the equal of three dozen shell eggs, there's a lot of food value for the money.

For school lunch programs, Bureau of Indian affairs and federal, state and local public welfare agencies, the government is offering the dried eggs for free, if they'll pay transportation costs. Some of these dried eggs are now nearly two years old, but they're said to be keeping very well, thank you.

THE GOVERNMENT got into this egg business during the war, of course. It was through the famous Steagall amendment to the 1942 farm bill. It specified that, to encourage the production of much-needed foods, their prices should be supported by government purchase at 90 per cent of parity. This was for the duration plus two years, which meant through the calendar year 1948.

The Hope-Aiken bill continued this support through 1949. The Gore-Anderson farm bill of 1949 put eggs on a permissive list, which meant they could be supported at any level from zero to 90 per cent of parity. Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan made the administrative decision to support the price of eggs at 90 per cent of parity.

What the secretary was shooting for was to keep the farm price of eggs at around 47 cents a dozen. But since this resulted in the production of too many eggs, on Jan. 1, 1950 the secretary lowered supports to shoot at a farm price level of 37 cents a dozen.

THIS CUT of over 20 per cent in support prices brought a loud squawk from the egg trade, but so far it hasn't cut down egg production much. One principal reason is that in this year's open winter, the hens have been laying more than usual. But the hope is that ultimately the lowered support price will reduce production closer to demand levels.

Of course the government doesn't buy the eggs themselves. It buys only dried eggs, paying the egg dryers a price that will enable them to buy eggs from the farmers at the desired levels.

All the dried eggs that the government has bought have come from the Midwest area running from Minnesota south through Missouri and Oklahoma. The eggs are ungraded, nest eggs from farm flocks. They provide the principal source of cash for the farmwife's pin money—her sugar and coffee money for store purchases.

The fact is not generally recognized, but the government has bought no eggs in the populous east, nor on the west coast. It has not been necessary. There is an egg shortage in these areas, not a surplus, and it is this shortage which is blamed for high egg prices in city markets.

ONE QUESTION frequently asked is why the surplus eggs from the Midwest couldn't be shipped east to relieve the shortage and break the high prices?

The principal reason given is that the Midwest farm or nest eggs are ungraded and too small for city market acceptance. Only about one or two eggs out of a dozen would be accepted by the egg trade. And the cost of sorting, grading and transporting to city markets is too high to yield any profit.

Egg men say it may take a generation to get farmers' wives in the habit of sorting and grading eggs so that they'll compete with the product of the egg "factories" which cater to city markets.

Ungraded nest eggs are, however, cheaper and therefore more suitable for breaking and separating for freezing, or for drying. But the normal commercial outlets for frozen or dried eggs are limited. During the war about 20 per cent of U. S. egg production was dried for Army and for relief, and there weren't nearly enough eggs to go around.

Health To You

Warts—A Weird Ailment

ACCORDING to the newspapers, a radio announcer recently asked help for a listener who wanted to get rid of warts.

The results were astonishing. Letters came from all over with many different suggestions. The most popular was the local use of castor oil, but milkweed, various kinds of acids, and several other suggestions poured in.

This experience is not as strange as it might sound because a wart is an extraordinary condition which is known to yield to many different kinds of treatment, although those mentioned are not generally recommended by medical men. The response of warts to treatments is all the more astonishing because they are caused by viruses which are small living bodies too tiny to see under the ordinary microscope.

There are few, if any, diseases known to medicine where so many different methods yield good results. The majority of warts yield to mild treatment, though occasionally, especially for warts on the feet, simple medical treatment is not always successful. Painting with certain dyes, several kinds of ointments, freezing with carbon dioxide snow, and burning with diathermy needles have all been used with success.

One of the favorite treatments consists in the use of injections containing a heavy metal called bismuth. Warts also disappear in most cases after X-ray treatment.

The most astonishing treatment of all, however, is the method of suggestion. How the mind can have an effect on a virus disease is a mystery. This does not involve the use of anything locally or by injection. Nevertheless, it has long been known that warts which have been present for many years can disappear suddenly and completely.

This has been confirmed by scientific observers. Just how to go about this kind of treatment is not settled and some doctors are skeptical about it, but so many good doctors have observed it that it must be true.

Warts usually are not serious but there are many unsolved problems about them still. They are surrounded by more superstitions than almost any other medical condition.

Henpecked Leopard

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK
OKLAHOMA'S PRODIGAL leopard had more friends in death today than he ever knew in life.

Millions of Americans felt a twinge of regret at the passing of this beautiful creature, who crept back to his zoo home after 61 hours of fruitless wild-cattling.

The way I look at it, the re-appearing leopard was just another mouse-hearted American husband, misunderstood both by his wife and his alarmed neighbors.

To understand his strange case we must have a little background. Let us call him Louie and his mate Hortense.

THREE MONTHS ago they were just another happy newlywed couple, enjoying the romance of poverty in the jungle along the Siamese-Burmese border. They never knew when they would land on their next meal. But, after all, they had each other—and anything else they could claw. And they were young.

Fame and prosperity just came to them too quickly. They were trapped, bought and shipped to the Oklahoma City zoo. And then life became too easy. They had free horsemeat every day, and crowds of Oklahomans came to admire them.

So they became vain and bored with each other.

"You're so dull, Louie, you never think up anything interesting to do," complained Hortense.

"Well, all you do all day long is manœuvre your toenails," snapped Louie. "You even got a hired man to clean out the house. And everyday company, company—don't you think a leopard ever wants a little privacy?"

"I don't invite them," sniffed Hortense. "They just drop by." But Louie moped and moped. He told himself he wished he could just get away from it all, and go back to his old single life in the woods.

And last Saturday he made a leap for liberty from the bottom of his pit, ricocheted against a wall and—to his own amazement—found he was footloose and fancy free.

For a while he felt deliciously happy. He loped and loped, dodging all people because he was tired of being admired. When night fell, he said:

"GUESS I'LL look up some of my bachelor leopard friends, and see what's new in the old jungle."

But he couldn't find any. All he saw was a puny tomcat, and when the tomcat saw Louie he ran like hell.

The next morning Louie felt fagged out and hungry. Then he heard the baying of dogs and saw groups of men with lightning sticks in their hands. Gradually it sank into his feline mind they were after him.

"Why?" he thought, crouching down to hide. "Why?"

He didn't know that civilization doesn't like married leopards to go out on the town anymore than it does married men. After another night, freedom began to pall on Louie. He got tired of stalking oil derricks. Nothing to eat in them.

So Monday night, weary, hungry and bedraggled, Louie said to himself:

"Poor Hortense, I'll bet she's feeling lonesome. Anyway she's learned her lesson. I'd better go back and see how she is."

And back went Louie, the homing pigeon, with his tail between his legs. He ate a chunk of drugged meat the zoo had put out for him, crawled into his den—and there they found him.

(Fifteen hours later he was dead. And the odd thing was that Louie, who never had even blown the foam off a mug of beer, probably just slept himself to death under the influence of the drug, chloral hydrate, which is often used to quiet noisy drunks.

(Well, anyway he won't have to listen to a lot of lady leopard talk from Hortense about what he did during his three nights out on the town.)

Big Shot Nazi Freed, But Can't Get Job With Germans

FRANKFURT, GERMANY—WHAT HAPPENS to a Nazi big shot when he is freed from an allied war crimes prison? SS General Ernst Bohle, who was slated to be Hitler's gauleiter for England, says: "I can't get a job. No one will dare hire me."

The suave, English-born Bohle was released from the U. S. Army's Landsberg prison last December. He had served five years for being an officer in the SS, labeled a criminal organization.

Now he's living with friends in Hamburg and scouting around for a new future in democratic West Germany.

"I guess I'll have to go to work for the Americans," says Bohle. "The Germans won't have any part of me."

But Bohle, mastermind of Hitler's foreign organization, contends that some Nazi indoctrination is still glued to German youth.

"The young people I've met since leaving prison don't believe what they are told about the Nazis by present German leaders or by the Allies," Bohle says. "But when I—an admitted Nazi and a big one at that—tell them that the Nazi leaders were no good, they believe me. They know I don't have any axe to grind."

BOHLE PLEADED guilty in his Nuernberg trial. He was the first German war criminal to express regret for his deeds since Hans Frank in the international trial of top Nazis in 1946.

He says the Nazis in Landsberg prison snubbed him for pleading guilty to the Allied charges.

"In Landsberg," he adds, "I saw what a selfish lot the Nazi leaders were. They were never concerned with what happened to Germany—just with their own pomp and glorification."

Bohle hopes to sell his memoirs to a New York publisher this year.

"I hope I can make a living writing since I know so much inside information of Nazi days," he says. "In Nuernberg I wrote a 3,000 word article on 'why Nazism failed.' An American colonel said I could sell it in the states for a dollar a word."

Bohle was asked what he thinks of the recurrent rumors that Hitler is alive, perhaps in Spain or Argentina.

"Hitler undoubtedly is dead," he replied. "I have read the accounts of his possible escape and they are products of some one's imagination. I talked with the Fuehrer for the last time in February 1945. Later I talked with people who saw him in April of 1945. All of them said he was a physical wreck and lacked the will, if he had the means, to flee Berlin."

The former SS general maintains that Hitler was insane for months before the war ended, possibly as early as 1943.

"IN A WAY," he was insane before the war began, too," Bohle says. "He had more power and more territory than any other German ruler in history. But he had to have a war too."

Bohle ran the Nazi party organization in the United States, England and continental Europe. "I still have many friends in those countries," he says. "I would like to visit England and see Winston Churchill. I had a conference with him before the war and he gave me his picture. I'd like to have it autographed now by that grand old man of England."

Bohle, who was born in Bradford, England and speaks fluent English, was considered the likely candidate to take over as gauleiter (Nazi area leader) in England in the days when the Nazis expected to conquer it.

"I wonder what the English would think if they could see these beautiful stores in West Germany," Bohle mused. "What a surprise for me to see them. Every one in prison kept saying the Germans outside were starving."

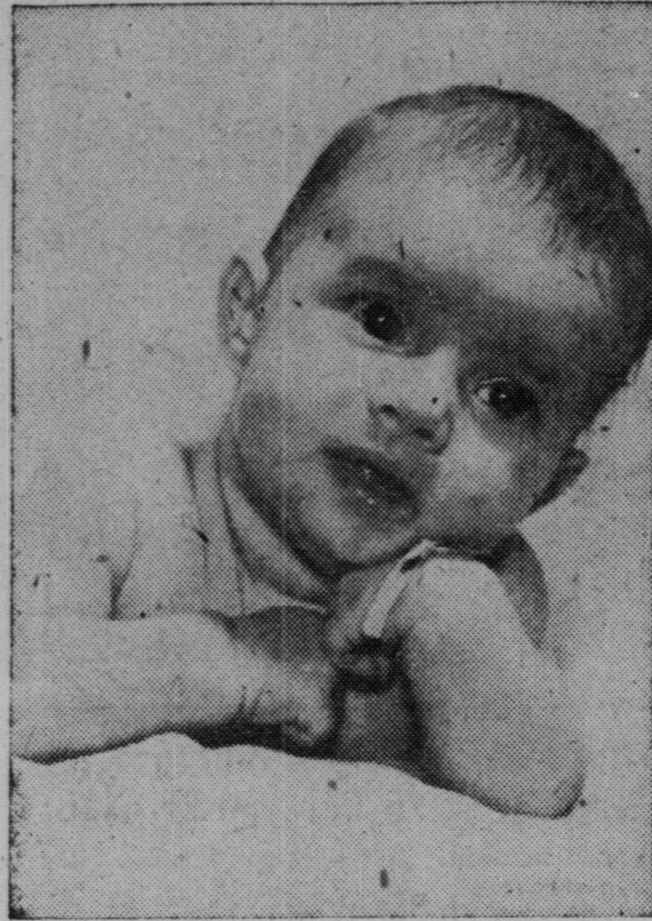

"Could it have been a bit of Nazi propaganda, maybe?" (A.P. Newsfeatures.)

Steel Demands Seen Continuing

But Coal Industry Faces Hard Times

NEW YORK, March 1—(AP)—This week's sharp drop in steel-making has caused a feeling in the industry that "the clamor for steel will be extended into the third quarter," The Iron Age, metal-working trade weekly said today.

Operations at steel mills this week were placed by the publication at 70 per cent of rated capacity.

But it pointed out that production of coke and pig iron was cut far more drastically than steelmaking. And producers have increased the proportion of scrap steel in open hearths in order to maintain their steel output.

"There is a limit to how far their ingenuity can be stretched," The Iron Age said. "For most companies it will be reached this week."

The steel market this week, it reported, "is reflecting familiar characteristics of former times. Demand is at a very high level. Conversion activity is increasing rapidly. And the gray market is returning, on a limited scale."

"So far, most conversion arrangements have been going pretty well on schedule."

Hard times are ahead for both coal miners and operators, The Iron Age commented, adding:

"Coal consumption has been steadily decreasing, while use of oil and gas has been increasing. On the basis of the coal tonnage which can be expected to be consumed this year there are too many miners—they might have work for about three days a week, after exhausted stocks have been replenished."

INCREASE DIVIDEND

ALLIANCE, Mar. 1—(AP)—Directors of Alliance Ware, Inc., have increased the common dividend to 40 cents a share, payable April 1 to stock of record March 22, the company announced today. The company paid 25 cents in the December quarter and 30 cents in the first quarter of 1949.

Trimble Class Gives Party For Member

Instead of Mrs. John S. Crawford going to the Presbyterian Trimble Class party Monday evening, the party came to her.

Twenty-seven members gave her a surprise house-warming at her home on Cleveland st., after meeting first at the home of Mrs. E. S. Vincent, program and social chairman of the evening.

Miss Sara Walker made the presentation of the class gift to Mrs. Crawford, whose mother, Mrs. William Woodrow was a guest. "Grace Sufficient Unto Me" was the topic of the worship service used by Miss Mary Francis Ressler.

Of interest were the letters read from Carol and Louise Huang, former Chinese students in this country, now located in Borneo. They described the primitive conditions of Borneo and told something of their work.

Letters also were read from Miss Elma Hoopes, class teacher, now in Florida, and Mrs. Stanley Wright of California, former Salemite. Mrs. Elizabeth Fouts presided at the business session.

Among the prize winners in the games and contests arranged by Mrs. George Meiser and Miss Ressler were Mrs. E. E. Ashley, Mrs. Frank Blair and Miss Mildred Tate.

Assisting Mrs. Vincent with the refreshments were Mrs. Robert Groner, Mrs. Lewis Starbuck, Mrs. Lee Vincent and Mrs. Raymond Pollock. The next meeting March 29 will be held at the home of Mrs. R. B. Halverstadt on Washingtonville rd.

Rotary To Begin 1950 Seal Sales

Columbiana Drive To Aid Handicapped

COLUMBIANA, March 1—Paul Ross, chairman of the crippled children committee of the Rotary Club, announced at the meeting Monday evening the annual Easter seal sales for the club's fund for handicapped children, which will begin Thursday, March 9.

Principal D. W. Bailey of Columbiana High School was appointed publicity chairman. Mr. Ross gave a report of club expenditures in the past year for handicapped children.

Mrs. Theolma Cochran, in charge of the Youngstown Rotary home for crippled children, and Mrs. Marjorie Vath, Mahoning County orthopedic nurse, answered questions about Rotary work for crippled children and members were invited to visit the home.

Thomas Newsom, manager of the Northeast Ohio Poultry Association, was welcomed as a new member of the club, and was formally inducted by Fred Detwiler, chairman of the information committee.

Mrs. Evelyn Lang of Lisbon, Columbiana county health nurse, was introduced by Superintendent T. V. Utterback of Fairfield School.

Next Monday evening, the club will have its annual 4-H Club Recognition Night at Fairfield School. Of the 252 members of 4-H clubs in Fairfield Township, 70 who won special merit awards in the last year will be invited, along with Columbiana County leaders.

The speaker will be Marshall Welles, editor of the Farm Forum of Radio Station WWJ, Detroit. The club will present the annual James Fitzpatrick memorial award to the outstanding 4-H member. The program will be recorded.

Local Tax Bills Show Huge Jump Since War

CHICAGO, March 1—(AP)—Local tax bills climbed 41.5 per cent in Columbus, O., since the war, a tax information service reported yesterday.

Cincinnati's tax bill was up 34.3 per cent and Cleveland's 16.9 per cent.

The Commerce Clearing House Inc., of Chicago conducted the survey, checking the nation's 30 largest cities. It said the bulk of the tax bills are for real and personal property taxes. The average for this is 75 per cent of the whole bill.

Other taxes include sales, income, license, parking meter, beverage, cigarette, gasoline and betting levies.

Of the 30 cities, their annual collections climbed 23 per cent in the first three postwar years. In 1948 total revenue in the 30 cities was $1,890,000,000 compared with $1,539,000,000 in 1946.

Los Angeles showed the biggest increase 66 per cent. Oakland, Calif., registered 64 per cent. Buffalo, N. Y., was the only one to collect less—five per cent in 1948 under the 1946 figures.

STROUSS-HIRSHBERG'S OF SALEM

Here's The Pitch

By BOB DIXON

THERE was little action at the South fieldhouse Monday night. In fact, all three games in the "A" division were almost cut and dried, if you overlook Warren trailing Canton Lincoln at halftime.

From our seat the Salem-Girard affair was the least awe-inspiring of the three tilts. The Quakers had it soft Monday—a lot softer than they'll find it next Monday night, when they go against the Youngstown champion Rayen Tigers.

Girard was as inept as any team the Red and Black has faced all year. Caging only 10 baskets in 66 shots, they lost all the advantage their extra rebounding gave. The Quakers were only a bit better and were fortunate to have a few of their mid-court set shots drop through.

When their set shots are hitting, Salem is sometimes hard to beat. When they don't hit, it's "Katie, bar the door."

Monday night the Quakers made only five baskets within the foul circle radius and two of the five couldn't be called layups. Jim Callahan got all four of his buckets within fairly close range of the hoop and Tom Pastier clicked on one short basket. Outside of those, the locals hooped nine shots through from the center of the floor or from the corners.

One of these nights they find their long range guns are not "zeroed in" and it will be necessary to get those layups. If they can't get in close then, they'll lose.

Granted, a zone defense, as employed by Girard, isn't the easiest thing to penetrate, but we've seen it done by other Miller-coached teams and by many other schools.

The Salem boys had better either get that ball in close or be really sharp on their long stuff next week.

Let's take a look at the four-basket setup in the district tournament and venture a few well-chosen guesses at the two eventual winners.

In the No. 2 bracket, it's hard to pick any team other than the seeded Canton McKinley Bulldogs. Always an interesting tournament team to watch and generally a successful one, the Bulldogs have only the problem of taking Youngstown Chaney into camp.

McKinley should win. After that they face nothing stronger than Ursuline or Canton Lehman to reach the finals against the No. 1 bracket winners.

The third bracket is a bit more puzzling, but the seeded Niles crew should be able to win through. They have Timken to stop and Alliance or Youngstown East. The Niles team is a veteran organization, having won the district title last season.

In the No. 4 group, the seeded entry, Boardman, looks good, although Campbell Memorial, with a 10-7 record, can't be the worst team in the world.

We'd rate the Boardman-Niles game a tossup for one regional spot, with a slight nod toward the defending champs.

Let it be inferred that we're dodging the issue in the top bracket, let's make it clear that we are. The issue concerns Warren, Salem and Rayen, eliminating Minerva.

Warren has licked Rayen 51-48 at Warren, stopped Salem 46-43 at Salem, while Salem has beaten Rayen 63-58 at the fieldhouse. A comparison would give the Black Panthers the edge.

However, rather than run the risk of being accused of "making the boys overconfident" or of "giving them an inferiority complex," we'll just call Salem's tournament future "questionable" and let it go at that. We'll know more about it next Tuesday morning.

State Books 2 Tourney Warm-Up Contests

To Meet Butler, St. Louis Teams

Get NCAA Formal Bid Tuesday; Play In K. C.

COLUMBUS, March 1—(AP)—Ohio State's Big Ten basketball champions probably will play their two "warm-up" games for the NCAA championships with Butler and St. Louis.

Both Butler and St. Louis officials expressed willingness last night to meet the Buckeyes, after Coach William Harrison "Tippy" Dye reported he was having more trouble booking the "warm-up" games than he had winning the conference title.

It's likely Ohio will meet Butler here March 11 and take on St. Louis five days later, possibly in Chicago's big stadium.

The Big Ten this year for the first time allows its champion to play two tune-up games before entering the NCAA playoffs, scheduled this time for March 24-25 in Kansas City. Without this provision, State's schedule would have been completed after Monday night's Michigan game. The Buckeyes got the coveted NCAA bid yesterday.

Big Ten clubs haven't done too well in NCAA competition in recent years, and the coaches have blamed the long layoffs between the season-end and tourney time.

Coach Ed Hickey of St. Louis said his school would be willing to play Ohio State and he said he'd contact Tippy Dye sometime today to talk things over.

The Billikens, last year's National Invitation tournament champions, also are in the national post-season tourney picture, although they haven't received a bid yet.

And, at Indianapolis, Butler's public relations directors, John Barnett, said the Bulldogs were ready to play State here March 11.

He said Ohio approached Butler about the game—contingent on Ohio getting the NCAA bid. At that time, said Barnett, the Butler athletic committee and school President M. O. Ross gave their okay. However, the formal arrangements haven't been completed.

Hickey said he favored the post-season game because it "would offer us a good chance to better already good relations with a good opponent." He added that he didn't know of any Missouri Valley Conference regulations prohibiting such a game. Ohio was reported anxious to meet St. Louis.

State beat Butler at Indianapolis during the regular season, 67-65. It didn't play St. Louis.

Bowling Green also offered to play Ohio State last night, but the Buckeyes haven't played an Ohio school in basketball for about six years. Then Denison's naval trainee squad almost bumped the Bucks. Coach Harold Anderson of the Bee-Gees suggested one game be played in Columbus and the other in Toledo.

Howie Pollet Balks At Card Bonus Deal

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 1—(AP)—Because he refused to gamble on the St. Louis Cardinals ability to draw the crowds, Howie Pollet today remained the lone Red Bird hold-out as his mates settled down to their spring training grind.

Pollet, one of the two 20-game winners in the National League last year, is still at his Houston, Tex., home because Owner Fred Saigh and he don't see eye-to-eye over his salary demands.

"I think I have a fair raise coming to me," the star, 28-year-old southpaw pitcher was quoted as saying recently. "Mr. Saigh agreed with me I'm worth what I am asking but says the club can't afford it."

"Yet the Cards made over a million dollars last year and I am one of the men who helped them make it. I didn't expect Mr. Saigh to treat me this way."

Pollet, who won 20 and lost nine games in 1949, signed a contract calling for a reported $15,000 last year. He is demanding a $25,000 pact for 1950.

Saigh, who arrived here several days in advance of the players admitted that Pollet's demands were "not unreasonable."

"I let Pollet name his own terms. After he set the figure I told him all right but I asked him to gamble on the Cardinals attendance this year."

"Considering that we drew 1,400,000 in '49 and we've already sold 300,000 tickets for this season, that isn't much of a gamble yet he's proving stubborn."

"It is up to him," Saigh added, "I've made up my mind on it."

Junior High Drops Tilt To Hayes Five

Running into a team with too much height, the scrappy and talented Salem Junior High cage team was bumped from the Struthers Junior High tournament by Youngstown Hayes 42-17 Tuesday night.

There was only one answer to the defeat: Control of the ball. Hayes dominated both backboards and the Salem lads were seldom able to get more than one shot at the hoop.

Tom Boone and Ronnie Llewellyn each notched five points to lead the locals.

The elimination of the Junior High left the Salem Freshmen team as Salem's only representative in the tourney.

Lisbon Stopped By Lehman 50-43

The Lisbon Blue Devils were eliminated from Class A basketball tournament play Tuesday night when they fell before Canton Lehman 50-43 in the Youngstown South fieldhouse.

Lisbon trailed throughout the game, although they closed the gap to three points at the automatic three minute time out. Lehman led 15-10 at the quarter and 23-19 at half time.

Carl Steitz played a brilliant floor game for Lisbon, and led the team in scoring with 17 tallies. The Blue Devils caged 17 of 23 fouls, while Canton made 14 of 24.

Tribe To Start Workouts Today

Boudreau Wins Wager On His Waistline

TUCSON, Ariz., March 1—(AP)—With only two players still holding out for fatter pay checks, Manager Lou Boudreau rang the bell today for his Cleveland Indians' first spring training drill.

Johnny Berardino, utility infielder, and Pitcher Red Embree came to terms last night with General Manager Hank Greenberg. That left only Pitcher Bob Lemon and Infielder Roberto Avila on the balking list.

Greenberg said he expected to confer with Lemon today and "I think we'll get together without any trouble." He didn't seem worried about Avila, who hasn't arrived yet, either.

Boudreau, looking lean and ready at a streamlined 182 pounds, stole the show—and won a suit of clothes—on the club's arrival yesterday.

Fourteen pounds lighter than when he reported last year, the Tribe pilot walked to the scales and collected on a bet with Spud Goldstein, Indians' road secretary.

Goldstein had wagered three months ago that Boudreau would not report weighing less than 187. He also bet a topcoat that Lou wouldn't scale less than 182 when the season opens.

There didn't seem much doubt about the handsome manager collecting his coat also.

Boudreau was obviously pleased about the way the entire squad looked, particularly third baseman Ken Keltner, who was a major disappointment last year.

"Kenny apparently has come down here with the idea of winning that third base job," he commented. "I look for him to put up a terrific battle."

The players will hold two workouts daily. Until the pitchers are able to throw for batting practice, most of the drills will consist of running and pepper games.

PARSEGHIAN SIGNS

OXFORD, O., March 1—(AP)—A football halfback, Ara Parseghian, has been appointed line coach at Miami University. Parseghian was a star at Miami during the 1946-47 seasons and joined the Cleveland Browns for the 1948-49 campaigns. Miami's head coach Woody Hayes said he hoped Parseghian would be able to teach Redskin linemen "to block as he did during his playing days."

Joe Bedenk, who doubles in football and baseball at Penn State, will coach his 20th baseball team this season.

MR. OUTSIDE—First Lieutenant Glenn Davis puts away a few civilian clothes at Fort Monroe, Va., after Army authorities accepted his resignation to be effective June 3. The Mr. Outside of West Point's great war-time football teams will enter professional football, the Los Angeles Rams having first call on the services of the former Cadet halfback.

CHICAGO, March 1—(AP)—The field was trimmed for Golden Glove quarter-final business at the Chicago Stadium tonight after a riotous session of 51 knockouts last night.

The 113-bout session last evening, involving four heavier weights, more or less separated the solid swingers from the lucky punchers in the preliminary showdown among welters, middleweights, light-heavies and heavyweights.

The quarterfinal field was determined Monday night among the four lighter weights, flyweight, bantamweights, featherweights and lightweight.

The survivors will battle it out tonight in all eight classes for berths in the semifinal and championship competition at the Stadium March 10.

DILLINGER IN FOLD

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 1—(AP)—Bob Dillinger, the Philadelphia Athletics $100,000 third baseman, signed his 1950 contract last night after a 15-minute talk with Manager Connie Mack. The bespectacled infielder who got $17,500 for hitting .324 for the St. Louis Browns last year, probably will be the A's highest paid player.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 1—(AP)—Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler started his annual tour of the major league training camps here today with a prediction that this would be "the greatest season baseball has ever had."

Chandler came here to visit Connie Mack, venerable manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, who is starting his 50th year at the helm.

"I've never made predictions on the pennant races, but I'll predict this will be our biggest year," Chandler said.

"Everything points to our biggest season. I am happy to say that things are reasonably quiet just now in the administrative end of baseball. Never have we approached a season with fewer major problems to be solved."

Newspaper Faces Court

Anti-Trust Action Charged In Suit

CLEVELAND, March 1—(AP)—The government opens its first court case today against a newspaper accused of injuring the business of a competing radio station.

In an anti-trust suit that promises to last several weeks, the U. S. attorney general has charged The Lorain, O., Journal with refusing to accept advertising from business houses advertising through Radio Station WEOL of Elyria, O. It has denied the charges.

Because of its unprecedented nature, this case has drawn in as "a friend of the court" the American Newspaper Publishers Association, representative of publishers of around 90 per cent of the daily newspapers circulated in the United States.

The ANPA feels that if the government wins its requested injunction against The Journal, then:

"For the first time in history, the press of this country will be subject to an order requiring it to give free access to its columns to anyone who demands the same. If that access be granted to advertisers, it follows that it must be granted to those who wish to disseminate of news, advertising, nature of news or editorial comment, irrespective of the judgment of the publisher as to its value or importance."

The general charge against The Journal is that the newspaper and four of its officers had combined to "restrain and monopolize the dissemination of news, advertising, and other information in violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act."

Besides its claim with respect to discrimination against the Elyria radio station, the government accuses The Journal of refusing to publish advertisements by merchants who advertise in The Lorain Sunday News, a weekly.

It also says The Journal induced The Elyria Chronicle-Telegram not to circulate its paper in Lorain. The cities are both in Lorain county.

Last Dec. 7, Federal Judge Emerich B. Freed refused to grant the government a temporary injunction against The Journal, requiring it to stop the practices alleged in the suit.

Today's hearing, also before Judge Freed, concerns a request for a permanent court order against the claimed practices. There is no penalty involved, even if the justice department wins.

For its part, The Journal denies the charges, claims it is not engaged in interstate commerce and that the facts presented by the justice department do not "present a case within the Sherman act."

Publisher Samuel A. Horvitz of The Journal calls the suit a "threat to the rights of every newspaper and publication in the United States."

Stock Exchange

Gold Stocks Run High At Opening

NEW YORK, March 1—(AP)—Gold stocks ran against a downward trend at the opening of the market today.

Some traders linked the upward move in gold issues with Russian devaluation of the ruble announced late yesterday. Golds were also in demand on the London exchange.

Higher prices were paid for Dome Mines, Homestake, McIntyre Porcupine, and South American Gold & Platinum.

On the losing side were American Cyanamid, Chrysler, Chesapeake & Ohio, Dow Chemical, General Electric Montgomery Ward, N. Y. Central, Sears Roebuck, Standard Oil (NJ), and Westinghouse Electric.

country in "this terrible position."

Fuchs was arrested on a tip by the U. S. Federal Bureau of Investigation. He had been trusted with the deepest secrets of British and American atom research and had worked at Los Alamos, N. M., where the atom bomb was perfected and exploded.

Fuchs, a Communist since 1932 and a naturalized British citizen, was told by Lord Goddard:

"You have betrayed not only the inventions of your own brain for which this country was paying you, but you have caused grave suspicion to fall on those whom you falsely treated as friends."

"You might have imperiled the friendship between this country and the great American republic with whom His Majesty (the King) is allied."

"You have done irreparable harm both to this land and the U. S. A. and you did it as your statement shows—clearly for the purpose of furthering your political creed."

The Lord Chief Justice was referring here to Fuchs' confession, in which he had said he deliberately split his personality into two compartments, one of loyalty to his Western friends, the other of devotion to Communism.

"Your statement," said Lord Goddard, "shows the depths of self deception to which people like yourself can fall. Your crime is only thinly differentiated from high treason."

Asked if he had anything to say, the man who hoodwinked top British and American anti-espionage agents for seven years replied in a low, calm voice:

"I have had a fair trial. I thank you, my Lord, I thank my counsel and the government and the staff of the British prison for their considerate treatment."

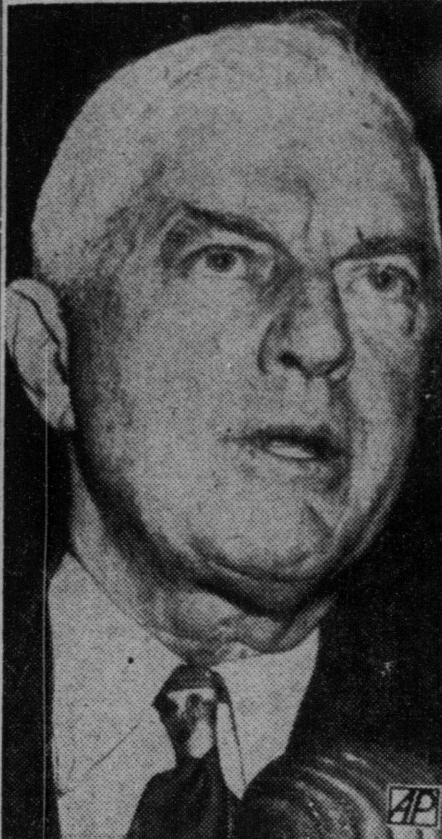

Fuchs had been confined in bleak Brixton prison, in the Lambeth section of southwest London, since his arrest Feb. 2.

The solemn, bespectacled scientist, prefaced his statement with this comment:

"I have also committed some crimes other than the ones with which I am charged. When I asked my counsel to put certain facts before you I did so in order to atone for those other crimes."

COMMENT ON RUSSIA.

Former Undersecretary of State Will Clayton (above) tells a senate foreign relations subcommittee (Feb. 13) at Washington that an arms agreement with Russia at this time would be "unfortunate because it would only lull the United States into a false sense of security." He argued that any such agreement should come only after the U. S. and her allies have joined in an Atlantic union.

Doctor

statement continued, "it was amazing to me that she had lived as long as she did. Nothing Dr. Sander or anyone else could have done could have affected her condition."

Earlier, a state medical witness at the so-called "mercy murder" trial admitted that a physician might make a mistake in judging whether a patient was alive or dead.

Under cross-examination, County Medical Referee Robert E. Biron was asked by Sander's defense lawyer:

"On the question of judging life and death, a physician whose emotions are strongly moved—such a physician may make a mistake about whether a patient is alive or dead?"

"That's a personal thing," replied Dr. Biron. "He might."

Under questioning by Attorney General William L. Phinney, Dr. Biron had said earlier that Mrs. Borroto's hospital record showed she was given four injections of air. He said further that "to my knowledge" air injection has no medical value and is not common in medical practice.

Dr. Biron said he was called to the Hillsboro County Hospital 25 days after the death of Mrs. Abbie Borroto, 59, Manchester housewife.

The county medical referee said he read medical reports in the case. And then he told the 13-man jury:

"I pondered for a few moments to determine how to explain the last part of the 'progress notes' and then decided it should be brought before the authorities."

Biron then read from records previously introduced by the prosecution. One read—"patient given 10 ccs of air, repeated four times, and expired 10 minutes after this was started."

The county medical referee said he summoned Sheriff Thomas F. O'Brien to the hospital and that later Dr. Sander came to the records room at the hospital.

Columbiana Kiwanis Hear Freight Agent

COLUMBIANA, March 1—James E. Collins of Canton, district freight agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad, was the speaker at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club Monday evening.

Presented by Program Chairman H. F. Richmond, Collins related the many difficulties which have confronted American railroads during the postwar years and told of his company's many plans for the future.

Today the Pennsylvania lines are 33 per cent Diesel-powered, 17 per cent electric, and 50 per cent steam, he said, and have embarked on a $170,000,000 program for more modern Diesel power. The system now has some 594 Diesel units in operation, with 220 on order.

The railroads are on the offensive today to give real service to freight shippers and passengers, Collins said. An expansive program of $325,000,000 includes also new box cars in its freight train efficiency effort.

A guest at the meeting was Minor Lodge, agent at the Columbiana station of the Pennsylvania.

Next Monday evening, the club will hold a Father-Son dinner meeting in the Washingtonville Methodist Church, an annual affair arranged by Mark Klingensmith. Washingtonville citizens are invited to attend.

Beaver School Board Explains Program

LISBON, March 1—Patrons of the Beaver Rural School district and members of the school board met Tuesday night at Elkton for the purpose of explaining to the patrons the impressions regarding the building plans.

Voters in the school district voted a $305,000 bond issue in May of 1947 for a school building program. Building plans call for an eight-room school at Calcutta and four-room schools at Rogers, West Point and Elkton. The general contract for all four was let to the Madden Co. of East Palestine on its bid of $289,415.

The cost of construction will leave only $15,000 for equipping the schools. Patrons had been under the impression that larger schools would be built.

Pedestrian Struck By Car On S. Broadway

Mrs. Joe Armenia of 406 S. Broadway was struck by an auto and knocked down at 7:25 p. m. Tuesday on S. Broadway. Taken to City Hospital for treatment, she is to be X-rayed today. The car was operated by Eugene M. Woodworth of R. D. 4, Salem, who was driving south on Broadway. Mrs. Armenia was crossing the street toward the west side. Woodworth told police he didn't see her until she stepped in front of the car.

WILL EXPAND HOSPITAL
ALLIANCE, March 1—(AP)—Alliance voters yesterday approved a $150,000 bond issue to expand the City Hospital. The vote was 5,803 to 580 for the measure.
